NEWS ITEMS OF INTEREST.

M. Stanislas Harel, one of the rich men in Rouen, has just died, leaving his whole fortune of several million francs to his valet.

Colorado has uncommonly big avalanches this winter, and one of them covered a house with so much snow that the men inside were ten hours digging their way out.

M. Bertillon, the French savant, says that the number of suicides in France is at the rate of 628 per million for widowers, 278 for bachelors, and 246 for married men, and that offenses against the person are 50 per cent, and against property 45 per cent less on the part of married than unmarried men.

Calcraft, the London hangman, who has just died, had a wonderful antipathy to reporters. He treated their presence in the preliminaries of the executions with as much brusqueness as he dared; and at a hanging in Newgate, just before he was leaving his "trade," he remarked to a distinguished member of the fourth estate, "I wish I had the stringing up of one of your beggars of reporters before I chuck it up." One occasionally meets with men of depraved tastes.

A woman at Nyack, N. Y., subdued an adopted girl by whipping her with thorns and then bathing her back with vinegar and salt; leaving her all night on her feet, tied to a bed-post; rubbing red pepper in her mouth and various other tortures. One day she told the child to go up stairs preparatory to being whipped until the blood ran down her legs. There was no reason to doubt the promise, and the girl therefore jumped out of the second story, fled naked to the woods, and froze nearly to death before she was discovered.

Nestor Lived too Long for Him.

Joshua Nestor had saved a few thousand dollars by long and hard work as a farmer in Virginia, while his son-in-law, Gen. Webb, was dissolute and penniless. Webb was impatient to get the old man's money, through his wife's inheriting it; but Nestor, like his namesake of Homeric days, lived on and on, until he was eighty-six, and even then he was hale and hearty. Webb, on the contrary, was ruining his health by dissipation, and it looked as though he would die first. To avert such an occurrence, he murdered Nestor, and it was for that crime he was hanged a few days ago.

The Life Given in Court.

Counselor Keneally remarked to Counselor White, during the argument of a cause before a St. Louis court: "Your statement is essentially false." Counselor White replied to Counselor Keneally: "You are a wilful and deliberate liar." Two inkstands were quickly flung, blackening the faces and clothes of the learned gentlemen, who then clinched and fought until forcibly separated by the court officers. Judge Wickham fined them $50 each, which they paid. They then went to the clerk's office, where they threw paperweights, books, heavy stamps and chairs at each other.

Brave Little Maggie Geddes.

One of the life saving stations on the California coast has been officially named Maggie Geddes. This is a recognition of the bravery of Maggie Geddes of San Antonio. She is only 9 years old. Being a young playmate fall down a high embankment into a mill race, she instantly jumped after her. The water was deep and ran swiftly toward a large wheel, but Maggie was a good swimmer, and by a desperate struggle got ashore with her playmate. Such coolness and courage was deemed worthy of special honor.

The Old Man Was Right.

A father and daughter at Kansas City differed on the question of Henry Dunn's moral worth, the former holding that he was a rascal, and the latter as stoutly maintaining that he was a good man to marry. The father emphasized his opinion by shooting Dunn, and the daughter consistently married him as soon as he had recovered from his wound. But the father is at last triumphant, for the daughter has returned to him and acknowledged the soundness of his judgment, a few whippings by Dunn having changed her mind.

The Reason Why.

How is it, May, that all the kid gloves worn at the Leap Year party, came from A. Strassburger & Co's? Because they have the best fitting gloves, from 2 to 13 buttons, and the loveliest shades in the State, and furthermore, they warrant every pair of gloves they sell, and their prices are very reasonable indeed, Frankie. A FEW IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

The GAZETTE has, by no means, been indifferent to the disputes between the people of Nevada and the Central Pacific railroad. We have not been at all backward in saying that we believed hostile legislation and blind attacks would result in enormous injury to our state. If we are suffering injustice, we must understand where we are injured, and to what extent, before we can devise a remedy. To let blind malice or corrupt politics shape the policy of the government, would be to plunge our state into a slough of despond as Kearney has those of California; as Potter did those of Wisconsin. As long as there is any other remedy untried, we should not appeal to force. While we have thus considered those who have done us the honor to listen, we have tried to convince the company that it would pay to consider in every possible way, the interest and wishes of their patrons on this side of the mountains. We have explained as have many others in Nevada, the grievances of our people, and the more we have studied and investigated, the more firmly we have been convinced there were exaggerations and misunderstandings, which, if explained, would leave a common ground upon which to amicably believe in the benefits of the Central Pacific, the following inquiries, in which we endeavored to formulate all the complaints we have heard. Mr. Stubbs has made a very lengthy, and to us, interesting reply to each one, which will be published in the GAZETTE on next Saturday, and in the weekly of next week. The complaints made are as follows:

1. It is charged that the rates of freight in this state are seriously damaging her material interests, and successfully militating against the interests of the road itself.
2. That the rates of freight turn Eastern capital to Utah and Colorado and away from Nevada, and prevent the development of our resources.
3. It is alleged that rates are higher to Reno and other Nevada points than to other communities, and more favorably situated.
4. That we are charged more for merchandise from the East than the San Francisco points, although they are more than 100 miles further from the shipping point.
5. Are the charges which produce the earnings of the company fairly distributed among all the communities served by the railroad company? Is not Nevada taxed more than her share?
6. That the rates from Sacramento at lower rates than from Reno to points on the coast and West.
7. That farmers at Lovelock find it cheaper to haul wheat to Reno than to ship it to Sacramento.
8. That the rates on goods from California to Minneapolis and points east, have been reduced to such an extent as to deprive Reno and Lovelock producers of their natural market.

THE HAYDEN TRIAL.

The great Hayden trial is the most over. It has been one of the most remarkable ever prosecuted in the United States. The Rev. Mr. Hayden is the prisoner in the case, and he is accused of the murder of a girl named Mary Stannard. The trial is at New Haven, Conn. No less than twelve distinguished professors have been put upon the stand to give testimony as to the nature of the crime and blood stains. Fifteen doctors figured among the witnesses, all of different opinions. They quarreled and wrangled over the stomach of the deceased. About a quarter of the physicians seemed to think that arsenic, whether taken into a dead or live stomach, would produce symptoms of inflammation; others thought that arsenic, if taken into a live stomach, would not be taken into a dead one, and others vice versa. All the doctors looked wise. Young practitioners hardly out of their medical colleges, and old men who had been practicing for half a century, and who were as wise as the wisest, all seemed to be in a quandary. There was considerable difference of opinion, among the learned professors.

IN REGARD TO THEIR TESTIMONY THE NEW YORK SUN HAS THE FOLLOWING:

Prof. Wm. Henry Brewer of Yale and Theodore G. Wormley of Philadelphia were more felicitous in their explanations than Mr. Dana. They are veterans in the ranks of science. Abstract scientific points were made so plain that a bootblack could understand them. The lawyers caught them in no traps. Every pitfall was avoided, and the Professors came out of the long cross-examination with clear throats and sound lungs. Not so, however, with Prof. Moses C. White. A more conscientious witness never stood before a jury. He was so conscientious that if asked whether he had seen a certain object he would qualify his answer by saying that his eyes saw it.

ELECTRIC HORSE BREAKING.

A late number of the Scientific American contains a description of a new electric process for breaking horses and for controlling vicious animals, which is now in use in Paris. The system consists simply in the use of a small Clark apparatus contained in a box, which can easily be placed under the control of the coachman or rider. In the interior of the reins is a small metallic conducting wire, terminating at one end of the bit, and at the other in the magneto-electric apparatus. By turning the crank of the electro-magnet a current is induced, which, acting on the mouth of the horse, so surprises him that he stops and remains passive. "M. Defoy has recently brought before us, says the editor of La Nature, a dangerous horse, which after putting him to the gallop, he brought suddenly to a stand-still by turning the crank of the Clark apparatus placed on the seat of the carriage. It should be remarked that the result is not obtained by a violent shock, for the electric current is not strong enough to benumb the animal, but only sufficiently so to produce a sort of astonishment, and the disagreeable (although not painful) pricking sensation peculiar to electricity. As a complement to his electric bit, M. Defoy has recently brought out what he styles an electric "stick," and which is no less ingenious than the former. This is a riding whip containing two conducting wires, insulated from each other by leather, and terminating in two points placed perpendicular to the ends of the stick. As in the former case, the other ends are connected with a magneto-electric apparatus. If a horse is in the habit of rearing, it is only necessary to urge him with the stick, at the same time applying the points of the electric "stick" to his shoulders, when he will at once move forward with his head downward. The same success will be had with a horse accustomed to wheel about."

REPUBLICAN NEWS.

Since Murphy, Capt. Mackenzie has ranked as the champion chess player of America. But a recent chess tournament in New York brought four other chess players to the front. Sellman, "the silent youth from Baltimore," has beaten the Captain, while Grundy, Judd, and Noble were also ahead of Mackenzie at last accounts.

THE HAYDEN TRIAL.

How gradually and by what easy steps the Democrats have backed down in Maine. Their big and bluster has about subsided, and in conformity to the will of the people expressed at the polls, Maine is once more under Republican rule. Eli H. Murray has been appointed governor of Utah. It is the general impression among those best posted that Murray was the property of the Mormons. Hence the change gives general satisfaction. Those who have not secured a copy of the late Harry Mitchell's "Sagebrush Leaves" should make haste to secure one. There are only 100 copies left at the Carson Appeal office. The City of Peking came into San Francisco with two cases of smallpox on board. Jules Ferry is reported to be dying of pneumonia. Preparations for the coronation of the Emperor of China are in progress. Gov. Wood of Maine, Jan. 19. The Government has ordered the celebrated Castle of Compiègne to be refitted for the reception of General Grant and party. The castle is about two miles from the city, overlooking the entire Mexican Valley and the City of Mexico. A house is also being prepared in the city, to enable the party to alternate between town and country.

PACIFIC COAST ITEMS.

A Nevada City lady, who is nearly seventy years of age, has recently begun taking instrumental music lessons.

Downville has been blockaded for a week, all communication except by men on snow-shoes being cut off. It is the most terrific snow storm ever experienced since that town was settled by the whites.

Within the last thirteen months 173 bears have been killed on the sheep ranch of Hanson, Porter & Russ, Humboldt county, Cal., and between $50 and $700 wildcats.

The Bodie Standard rejoices that the mercury only fell fifteen degrees below zero in that locality during the recent cold snap.

Near Petaluma, on the 19th, A. M. Goodenough, a traveling agent from San Francisco, was stopped by a foot-patrol and relieved of about $150 in coin and a gold watch and chain.

A party reaching Leadville a few days ago from the Gunnison reported the thermometer fifty degrees below zero, and snow from 12 to 18 feet deep.

Eight hundred large six, eight and ten mile teams pass through Buena Vista daily for Leadville, which is forty miles up the valley and 3,000 feet higher than the former town.

The business of Denver, it is claimed, reaches the total of $28,000,000 for the year 1917. The number of buildings erected in that city was 382, at a total value of $2,378,960.

Says the Portland Bee: The most destructive forest fire within the memory of the oldest white settler did not cause a tenth part of the destruction created by the late storm. If the prostrate timber could be utilized in any manner, either by saw-mills or for cord wood, there would be less cause for sorrow, but under the circumstances three-fourths of it will be a total loss.

DISAPPOINTMENT.

From the New York Sun
"Oh, give me, Mary," said young Fred. The while the maid was shyly laughing: He said no more, so great his dream Of the fair damsel's merry chaffing. He stroked his infantile moustache. While Mary tenderly was sighing: Again he made the venture rash—"Oh, dearest Mary, I am dying!"

Truckee Items.

From the Republican of to-day.
An amateur dramatic troupe is to be organized in Truckee.

The wood work for the new public school house at Reno, has all been finished at the factory.

Icebergs the size of a man's body fringe the mouths of the mountain canyons along the Central Pacific, and constantly endanger the brakemen on top of the freight cars.

The Boca Brewery had a narrow escape from fire the other day. The flames made considerable progress, but were subdued by the workmen.

In Montana J. C. Curran recently, in cutting down a large pine tree, measuring nearly four feet in diameter, found a smooth slug bullet imbedded in the solid wood, about twelve inches from the bark. He also found in digging, about four feet below the surface of the ground, a tooth which weighed five and a half pounds, and which was in a state of perfect preservation.

The north lateral drift of the Sutter tunnel is 1,771 feet in length and is into the Best & Belcher ground a distance of 284 feet; the length of the south lateral drift is 978 feet and it is in Bullion ground a distance of 88 feet.

A Bodie man has invented a car that runs from the shaft to the dump, unloads and returns entirely of its own motion, requiring no one to attend to it.

Last Monday night, Patti and part of her gang suddenly took passage on the steamer for Australia. She takes $15,000 with her, and Chizola, erstwhile her manager, is about bankrupt.

During the past season over 40,000 head of California sheep were driven into Colorado. The average price obtained per head was $2.50; with ewes, $2.50 and lambs, $2.
